

I belive that the Wisconsin State No-call list is necessary. Before the no-call list was implemented I would be solicited at least a dozen times a week. My feeling on services has always been. If I need your services I will seek you out. I know that isn't best for those companies who thrive on telemarketing. I will NEVER sign up or buy anything from a telemarketer. In fact I am less likely to purchase or seek services from a company that has solicited me online.

Now we enjoy peaceful evenings without having to ward off telemarketers. Our homes are places of isolation. We should be able to be in our homes without having to be bothered by telemarketers. I feel that the telemarketing industry has played it's part in the demise of the home phone. Not only are cell phones convenient, but they also protect you from the telemarketing phone calls.
